Friday, April 24, 2020 8:15am - 4:45pm

THE LAW OF SUSTAINABILITY: PAST & FUTURE
7.25 CLE Credits (6.25 General) (1.00 Access to Justice)

This program has been changed to webinar participation only. If you have already registered for the in-person seminar, your registration will automatically be changed to webinar participation. If you would like to cancel your registration please contact the OSB CLE Service Center at (503) 431-6413 or (800) 452-8260, ext. 413 or via email at cle@osbar.org.

On the 50th Anniversary of Earth Day, the Sustainable Future Section invites all members of the Oregon State Bar to a day-long CLE focused on The Law of Sustainability: Past and Future. Sustainability issues impact nearly every area of the law and the day's programs will cover topics relevant to a variety of practice areas. Prominent speakers, including judges, attorneys, scholars, and activists, will review the progression of sustainability law and discuss future challenges in the law and enforcement. Programs will cover issues including climate change, access to justice, endangered species, constitutional law, and environmental justice. A complimentary lunch is included with the cost of registration, along with 7.25 total CLE credits, including 1.0 Access to Justice Credit. The full Agenda, including Programs and Speakers, is provided below:

PLEASE NOTE: The program's presentations and course materials do not reflect the opinion or position of the Oregon State Bar or Oregon State Bar sections. All of the CLE content is the express perspective of the individual presenters.
